

CUT IN ESTIMATES CAUSES COMMENT

House Appropriation Bill
Does Not Meet With Much Favor.

LESS THAN PRESENT YEAR

Believed That Congress Owe the District Money Under the 1878 Compact—
Hoped That When Measure Reaches
Senate Crudest Will Be Removed.

The report of the House Committee on Appropriations on the District bill has been the chief topic of discussion by the heads of departments and the employees of the municipality since Saturday. The Commissioners are reticent, for obvious reasons, but it is well known that they share in the general feeling of disappointment over the report. The fact that the amount recommended to be appropriated is $2,697,883 short of the estimates of the Commissioners, and that in a certain contingency the amount recommended is to be treated to a horizontal cut of 10 per cent is sufficient indication of the feeling of discouragement which pervades the municipal government at this time.

The aggregate of appropriations recommended in the report is $26,692,957 short of the amount appropriated for the present fiscal year. This shows that if the bill passes as recommended there will be an actual going backward during the next fiscal year, instead of an advance for the Capital City. This does not sit well on the men who give their time and labor to the conduct of municipal affairs.

The House committee explains that it has no authority under the rules of the House to recommend legislation increasing the taxes of the District, or to authorize further advances from the United States Treasury than those provided for in the act of February 11, 1901, and it is further explained that the District finances have been in a strained condition, the committee has opted for the method of keeping the appropriations down to the figures named.

Only Half of Truth Told.

Employees of the District thoroughly conversant with the situation say that the committee has told only half the truth in this statement. They say that there is no recognition of the fact that Congress has in the past authorized the diversion of the revenues of the District to street extensions and to other expenses, in violation of the compact of 1878, which alone is responsible for the deficit. The extension of Sixteenth Street was mentioned as an illustration. In the several acts authorizing the opening and extension of that thoroughfare the net cost, amounting to $221,157.54, is required to be paid wholly from the revenues of the District. It happens in the course of events that this sum must be paid by the District within the next six months, which aggravates the existing financial conditions. Those who take this view of the matter say that the committee is silent upon the real cause and has brought to the front and emphasized the result, recommending that the District shall be made to suffer for the shortcoming of Congress itself.

Local Expenditures.

A statement was prepared a few months ago from the books in the Auditor's Office showing that since 1890 the sum of $4,263,116.16 has been charged solely to the account of the District on the increase of the water supply, the purchase of the Zoo Park, street extension, and a few miscellaneous items. In the payment of this sum within the last eleven years Congress has had no share, openly violating the agreement entered into in 1878 to share one-half of the expenses of the District, without reservation. In other words, those who support the view that the committee has suppressed the true facts of the situation, hold that the United States literally owes the District of Columbia at this time $2,125,268.08, which it ought to pay, and this sum is exclusive of the sums paid during the present fiscal year for street extensions and the $221,000 to be paid immediately for the extension of Sixteenth Street. It is stated that if this sum, or any part of it, had been inadvertently advanced to the District, the House Committee would have been quick enough to have called attention to the fact and to have included it in their report. Moreover, the District would have it to pay.

Not Enough for Needs.

The amount called for in the estimates of the Commissioners for the next fiscal year, aggregating $10,435,861.57, is recognized by the heads of the municipal departments as representing the actual needs of the District for the next year, to maintain the government and to provide for reasonable advance in public improvement. In presenting their estimates to the Secretary of the Treasury the Commissioners said that they had followed the policy of making up the estimates by asking what is really necessary, regardless of the possible deficit due to the diversion of District funds by Congress to street extension purposes. The growth of the District, they said, necessitates an increase in its needs. All its services, they maintained, require larger appropriations from year to year. They stated that the general expenses of the District could be met by the revenues, but that the cost of extraordinary projects of improvement, here as elsewhere, cannot be met out of the revenues of a single year. The Commissioners said that the cost of such expenditures ought to be distributed through as many years as necessary to minimize and equalize the expense.

Some of the employees of the District take the ground that Congress has no warrant in saddling the cost of the filtration plant upon the District of Columbia. They say that the United States Government started out to build the water supply system to the point where it was to be delivered to the municipality for distribution. As a result the Government owns, maintains, and operates the water system from Great Falls to the distributing reservoir. The Federal Government owns and controls the Hoxie tunnel and the Howard University reservoir, though Congress put a portion of the cost of building the tunnel and reservoir upon the District.

The Filtration Plant.

It is maintained by those who hold to the view here stated that the United States Government should have borne the entire expense of these extensions of the service, and that it should build and pay for the filtration plant. After that plant is finished it will belong to the United States, and it is recognized in the report of the House committee as United States property, in that the Secretary of War was authorized to go about its construction. They maintain that it is part and parcel of the supply system, with which the municipality has nothing to do. It is maintained that one of the recommendations of the committee was to have recon-nized the duty of the United States to build the filtration plant, and to have relieved the appropriation bill of that item.

Ten Per Cent Salary Cut.

District employees regard the alternative of having their salaries cut 10 per cent, if the personal tax bill does not become a law, with something like consternation. This is the first time any committee of the House has attempted to introduce such a provision into the District appropriation bill. The recommendation of the committee carried out to its conclusion would cut the salaries of the Commissioners down $500 a year, and would reduce the remuneration of the per diem employees at $1 a day to 90 cents. One of the heads of departments said on Saturday that this clause in the report of the committee would make every employee of the District a voter for the passage of the personal tax law from now on.

Some of the wisest heads took some comfort to themselves in the fact that the report of the committee does not necessarily mean that everything recommended will pass the House, and afterward be accepted by the Senate. They cited the experience of former years when the appropriation bill has been essentially modified in the Senate, and a good many of the crudities advanced by the House committee have been eliminated. They expect to see something of the kind this year.

It is thought that before the bill reaches the Senate for final action, the personal tax law will be passed, the assessment completed and possibly a law passed authorizing advances from the United States Treasury for the payment of extraordinary improvements. In that case it is believed that the appropriation bill will in the end carry a larger aggregate sum than that recommended by the House committee.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

While riding on a car of the City and Suburban Railway Henry Baker, colored, thirty years old, met with a painful if not fatal accident about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The car was speeding along Bunker Hill Road, near Seventh Street northeast, when Baker put his head out of the window to speak to a friend. He looked back after he had spoken to the friend, and in so doing struck his head against a trolley pole on the side of the tracks. He was rendered unconscious by the blow, and a wound in his head began to bleed profusely.

The conductor summoned an ambulance and had the man removed to Freedman's Hospital for medical attention. At the hospital it was thought that he was dead, but he regained consciousness during the day. He informed the doctors that he lived on the Riggs Road, Prince George County, Md., and was on his way to this city when the accident happened. Although he is very seriously hurt, the doctors have hopes of his recovery.

LITTLE CHANGE IN STRIKE SITUATION

Strikers, Masters, and Bosses Decline to Give In.

Carpenters to Have a Conference Today
That May Result Satisfactorily.

The strikers of four trades are still as reluctant as the masters and bosses to give up in their demands. The plumbers' strike stands about the same as it did a week or ten days ago. The carriage makers still declare they will win, and the workers on leather goods are still demanding what they claim to be their rights.

The carpenters' strike is perhaps the nearest to an amicable adjustment. A committee from the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Section will meet in conference this afternoon with the bosses who have not yet acceded to the committee's requests.

A prominent builder of the city was seen yesterday in regard to the carpenters' troubles and he stated that the fight was not with the carpenters as individuals, but a fight between the American Federation of Labor and the Knights of Labor. He stated that the trouble has been brewing for several years. For some reason the two labor organizations have never been on friendly terms. The feud is said to have grown to such a large extent now that the members of the two organizations refuse to work in the same shop or at the same building or job.

"While it would be far better for the men who are at the head of these organizations to give their time and thought to the subject of bettering their respective unions, the two are continually fighting each other," continued the speaker.

Hopes of the Carpenters.

At the conference which is to be held this afternoon it is hoped by the committee that the builders will say that they will hire only C. L. U. carpenters. If this is done the bosses will have to let go about 150 K. of L. men. The Brotherhood men say they will continue to fight until their demands are acceded to. Since the George A. Fuller Company acceded there are only about fifty carpenters who are still unemployed.

In speaking of the plumbers' strike, Mr. William M. Merrick, president of the Journeymen Plumbers and Steam Fitters' International Union, said that there was little likelihood of the local strikers losing their fight. He stated that he had come from the international headquarters in Chicago, and was sure everything there was all right.

The master plumbers stated yesterday afternoon that there was practically no change in the situation, and expressed confidence that they would win the fight. In reference to inserting advertisements in out-of-town newspapers for help, a member of the press committee said that they had advertised in outside papers and had received a great many applications for work; that the work was to be done at the old rate and that each man was to have a helper.

Plans of Boss Plumbers.

The master plumbers issued a circular letter last week, stating that they had notified their attorney to institute injunction proceedings against any man or body of men interfering with the conduct of their business, or coercing non-union men into quitting their employment. "The law is very strict on the point of conspiracy," says the letter, "and we propose to take the full advantage of it." The Master Plumbers' Association still presents a solid front in the stand it has taken.

The journeymen carriage and wagon makers are not disposed at present to meet their employers in a conference, as they say that as they have been idle for nearly a month, they do not intend to give in a single iota, and therefore a conference would be of little good to either side.

The carriage makers have all been receiving letters within the past two or three weeks, offering them positions in other cities, and it is not improbable that if the strike is not very shortly over there will be no one to maintain it. Already three journeymen have accepted positions and have left for other cities. One of the largest leather firms in the city, one against whom the Leather Workers' Union had waged a war, acceded to the demand of the strikers.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

William Smith, Colored, Said to Have Stabbed Arthur Tabbs.

After having eluded the police for eight hours William Smith, colored, twenty-three years old, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault with attempt to kill, by Policeman Johnson, of the Ninth precinct. Smith was locked up to await the result of his alleged victim's condition.

Arthur Tabbs, colored, is said to have been stabbed in the back by Smith during an altercation which occurred about 1 o'clock yesterday morning on Third and ½ Street between E and F Streets. He was taken to the Casualty Hospital for treatment, and was considered to be in a serious condition. He was better last night.

After the cutting Smith disappeared, and the police secured the northeast section of the city for him all night without results until 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when he went in the direction of home and was captured by Johnson.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Harry Burke Locked Up at No. 6 Police Station.

Harry Burke, who is also known as George Simons, and who has gained notoriety in various parts of the country by allowing himself to be buried alive and then resurrected, is now, figuratively speaking, buried in a cell at No. 6 Police Station. He is charged with the larceny of $30.

John Baden, of Oxen Hill, Prince George County, Md., came to Washington Saturday. That night he occupied a room at a Pennsylvania Avenue hotel with Burke. Yesterday morning he missed from his pocket $30. Burke was also gone. Later he was captured at the Baltimore and Ohio depot as he was about to take a train to leave the city. Thirty dollars, it is alleged, were found tucked away in a mysterious little pocket of Burke's trousers. He will probably be given a hearing in the Police Court today.
